The Issue-

The Republicans papers in Virginia say that the Democrats, afraid of the protection sue, have resolved to go into the campaign this year upon the single issue of the suemacy of the white race. We do not know bat sort of platform the Democratic State Convention will lay down, but we take it for granted that it will be one upon which every good Democrat will be willing to stand,

The Clarke Courier, on the borders of Marviand, cannot be expected to attach as much importance to the race issue as do the papers of those sections of the State which contain a large negro population. All of us are more or less influenced by our surround-

It is because of a call inquiry lato the Principles of Religion. By the Rev. Haway Thoso Baxy, M. A., are afraid to stand up for respective. finds tiself weak before the people. If we are afraid to stand up for principle we half-way confess that we are wrong and our opponents are right. Tariffreform should not be side-tracked from fear of discussing it, but simply because the Governor and Legis-lature to be elected next fall have nothing to do with it. But do not forbid canvassers from discussing it. It will not submit to being crushed in this marner, and the peo-ple are suffering too much from its hardhips not to be interested in so vital a ques-

We fear that the Courier's suggestion, if are to be allowed to set forth their views, all citizens e Democrats who are opposed to the bill will of course be permitted to reply to the Janus. A Novel. By EDWARD INENEUS arguments of the other side. This would be fun for the negroes, but death to the whites. The Courier would of course not favor the policy of allowing the anti-protectionist stumpand compailing the protectionist Democrats to keep their mouths closed. To do so would be to court defeat. Possibly Virginia might vote against a protective tariff if there but to divide the 250,000 white voters upon that question when toere are 150,000 negro voters ready to throw their solid vote upon one side would be to commit suicide.

The State Debt.

This is the year for our State elections in Virginia, and Messrs. John A. Hambleton & Co., of Baltimore, have begun to pay at tention to the matter. They quote from the annual report of the Council of Foreign Bondholders in London as follows: "Bondbolders who have not followed the legislation which was carried out by the General Assembly in 1887 are possibly not aware that the latest confrience of the State Legislature to destroy the validity of the coupons on its bonds is based on a false pre-tence. On the plea that there are numbers tence. On the pies that there are buttoers of forged and spurious coupons in existence the State laws now direct that suits shall be brought in the State courts in the suits against tax-payers who have tendered coupons in payment of taxes. When the trial takes place, unless the tax-payer can produce the bonds from which the tendered coupons were cut, he is forbidden to produce any evidence whethers to prove his coupons seen. evidence whatever to prove his coupons gen-uine; he has to submit to a "verdict" that his coupons are spurious, and judgment is ntered against him with large additions in entered against him with large additions in the way of costs, penalties, and com-pound interest. Execution then goes out, and if coupons are tendered in payment of it, the statute orders the officer not to levy on and sell the tax-payers' property, because in that case such officer would be liable to a suit for trespass in the Would be hande to a sun for trespass in the United States Court. It therefore directs him to make return on the execution that coupons were tendered in payment of it, whereupon a second suit is brought against the tax-payer, the same farce is re-cuacted, and another judgment is obtained with fresh costs and penalities. The avowed purpose of this law is to deprive the tay-payers of all means of defeace, and to accumulate judgment on judgment against them until the gross amount of their habilities be-

"The committee have just received advices from their counsel in Virginia that on his application the Supreme Court of the United States at Washington has advanced the hearing of all the bondholders' appeal cases on the docket to October next, instead of letting them in over for the probable recases on the docket to October next, instead of letting them lie over for the probable period of three years before coming on for hearing. Such an application has never as yet been granted by the Court, except on the motion of one of the States of the Union. This is the most important, in as much as the State of Virginia strenuously opposed the advancement of these suits, which affect the constitutional character of all her recent legislation."

All that crowing is based upon an insecure dation. The present Chief-Justice of the United States is a States-rights man, and may desire to have a "whack" at the conationist theories which the Supreme also be a very different man from that distin. and there are thousands of dollars' worth, guished furist.
